About This Test

A Urine Routine Examination (Urine RM) is a common diagnostic test that evaluates various components of a urine sample. It typically includes: 1. Physical Examination: Analyzes color, clarity, and specific gravity. 2. Chemical Examination: Tests for pH, protein, glucose, ketones, bilirubin, urobilinogen, nitrites, and leukocyte esterase. 3. Microscopic Examination: Detects cells, bacteria, crystals, and casts. This test helps diagnose urinary tract infections, kidney disease, diabetes, liver conditions, and other medical issues.
