About This Test

The Typhi Dot IgG test measures the presence of IgG antibodies against *Salmonella Typhi*, the bacterium responsible for typhoid fever. This test is used to diagnose typhoid fever, particularly in chronic or convalescent stages, as IgG antibodies indicate a past or ongoing infection. Elevated levels of IgG antibodies suggest exposure to *Salmonella Typhi* and help in confirming the diagnosis of typhoid fever, which is characterized by symptoms like prolonged fever, abdominal pain, and gastrointestinal disturbances.
