About This Test

The Vitamin B12 Active Holotranscobalamin test measures the levels of holotranscobalamin (holoTC) in the blood, which is the active form of Vitamin B12. HoloTC is the vitamin B12 that is bound to transcobalamin, a protein that transports it to cells. This test is used to assess Vitamin B12 status and diagnose deficiencies more accurately than total Vitamin B12 tests. Low levels of holoTC can indicate Vitamin B12 deficiency, which may lead to anemia, neurological issues, or other health problems.
