About This Test

Beta-2 microglobulin (B2M) is a protein found on the surface of many cells and released into the blood and urine. The Beta-2 microglobulin test measures its levels to evaluate kidney function, detect certain cancers, and assess immune system activity. Elevated B2M levels can indicate conditions such as chronic kidney disease, multiple myeloma, or lymphomas. It is also used to monitor disease progression and response to treatment, providing valuable information about the severity of these conditions.
